BIGLERVILLE MAN IS BADLY HURT IN CRASH

Albert Lee Dove, 47, Biglerville R. 1, was severely injured Friday evening at 7:45 o'clock when his motorcycle and an auto collided in the square at Biglerville.

State police said Robert E. Barbour, 16, Biglerville R. 1, was driving a car south on Main St. in Biglerville while Dove was driving his motorcycle north.

At the square, according to the officers, Barbour made a left turn and the motorcycle struck the hood and grill of the auto. Damage to the front of the 1951 car was estimated at $75. Damage to the 1948 motorcycle was to the gasoline tank and front wheel.

Dove was hurled from his vehicle by the impact, suffering a compound fracture of the left leg and lacerations of the face and nose. He was removed by ambulance to the Warner Hospital where he was admitted as a patient. Those at the scene said it appeared to them as if Dove's leg was "almost torn off" by the impact.

Crash At Cross Keys

A Wisconsin man was injured in an accident at Cross Keys investigated by state police Friday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock.

State police said K. L. Hankey, 68, York Springs R. 2, was driving north on the Hanover-Carlisle Rd., stopped at the stop sign at Cross Keys, then pulled into the Lincoln Highway headed north in the path of a car being operated on the Lincoln Highway by Timothy A. Roesch, 18, Milwaukee, Wis. The Roesch car struck the right rear of the Hankey vehicle. Damage was estimated at $300 to the two autos. Ronald Edward Becker, 19, Waukesha, Wis., a passenger in Roesch's auto, suffered a laceration of the scalp. He was treated at the scene.

OFFERS GRANTS FOR COURSE IN MATHEMATICS

Gettysburg College is offering grants covering all tuition fees for an accelerated mathematics course for freshmen to be given June 8 to August 23. "These grants are designed to encourage a limited number of exceptionally well qualified high school graduates to pursue a career in science or mathematics," according to Dr. Charles H. Glatfelter, assistant dean and director of the summer session. Applications must be filed before May 1.

The intensive course in analytical geometry and calculus will prepare college-bound students for advanced work in mathematics, physical sciences and engineering. Applicants' academic standing, particularly in mathematics, must fully qualify them for the course. Recommendation by their principals and mathematics teachers is required. They need not intend to matriculate at Gettysburg College, however, Dr. Glatfelter said.

Cover English Course

In addition, "a few" of the full tuition summer grants will also cover a college English course, and a few others will allow the recipients to take a tuition-free basic college physics course. Such successful applicants would thus receive a semester's credits worth approximately $400. "Much will be given, but much will be required," Dr. Glatfelter pointed out.

Several high school mathematics teachers will also receive grants covering tuition costs to take the accelerated mathematics (Continued On Page 5)

Seek To Catch Parachuting Capsule

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—Giant Air Force Flying Boxcars circling near Hawaii play a taut game of catch today with the whizzing Discoverer XI satellite.

The game: Net a parachuting 27-by-33 inch capsule after it's ejected by the satellite blasted into polar orbit Friday from this seaside missile base.

If successful, the recovery paves the way for sending animals and then men into space and bringing them back.

Air recovery of the capsule would be a singular first in man's exploration and conquest of the inky void of space. Nose cones and capsules containing animals have been rocketed into space and recovered. But none has been recovered from orbit.

Six of the previous Discoverer series have achieved orbit. Five carried capsules but none was recovered.

Heavy Traffic Forecast Big Business Here

If traffic through Gettysburg on Good Friday is an indication of what to expect in the warm months ahead, the tourist business in this historic community should reach all-time high this year.

Heavy traffic started rolling into town on Thursday and on Friday cars were almost bumper-to-bumper for hours at a time.

The visitors and those passing through came from all directions and hotels and motels reported "no vacancies" Friday. Souvenir dealers, museums and other places reported brisk business and there was a feeling in the air that Gettysburg is destined for thriving business for some months to come.

Observers said the increase in tourists stems from the vast amount of publicity focused on Gettysburg from many sources during the winter months, a good bit of which was from the widespread movement to raise funds to acquire battlefield land to preserve this historic shrine.

SCHOOL OFFERS TEST CONCERT

"The symphony concert which will be presented Monday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock in the Gettysburg High School auditorium was arranged through the mutual cooperation of Dr. William Sebastian Hart and the administration of the Gettysburg School System," said Clifford B. Snowberger, high school principal, said today.

"One of the main purposes of this concert is to acquaint the youth of Gettysburg and Adams County with a finer type of music. It is felt that this sort of program has a significant educational value because it tends to give our youth a taste of the warmth and beauty of music written by the masters. It also gives them an insight into the feelings and moods brought to the fore in musical expression."

"An attempt is made here to channel the interests of our youth toward this finer type of music in contrast to the popular song type. This program is not designed to be of a deep symphonic mood but rather is purposed to portray a type of music which will not only stimulate the interest of these young people but will whet their appetites for a higher type of music. If this sort of program proves successful, we expect to continue their presentation in the future," he added.

News Briefs
TOKYO (AP)—Communist China has apparently silenced its last outspoken critic within the bamboo curtain—the lonely, defiant voice of Ma Yin-chu.

A brief Peiping Radio broadcast in Chinese disclosed Friday that the American-educated scholar had been removed March 26 as president of Peiping University.

Lu Ping, vice president of the university, was named Ma's successor.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Word of unrest in the Kazakh Republic of the Soviet Union has reached diplomatic circles here.

One bloody riot is said to have taken place last October in which there reportedly were several hundred casualties. Soviet troops were sent in after local authorities were unable to quell the uprising.

Such reports sometimes take months to reach Washington because of the tight secrecy of the Iron Curtain.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The South African government threatened today to banish Negro workers to native reserves in the remote interior if they join the stay-home strike called for next week.

The government's Department of Bantu Administration and Development warned the African work force they would be stripped of their jobs if they heed the strike called by underground African leaders.

The warning was issued at Cape Town after thousands of leaflets calling for a week-long work boycott were distributed in the Johannesburg area.

The outlawed African National Congress called the strike to force abolition of the passbook system by which white police control movement of nonwhites and to force the release of jailed African leaders.

NEW YORK (AP)—A small freighter with 23 crewmen aboard sank early today off the Virginia coast, the Coast Guard reported.

The Coast Guard here said it last received a radio signal from the "Ethel C." a 329-foot vessel flying the Lebanese flag, shortly after 1 a.m.

The word was that the ship's pumps couldn't cope with water coming into the holds and the crewmen were abandoning ship.

The first vessel to reach the scene some 20 miles off the Virginia coast north of Norfolk reported no sign of wreckage or lifeboats.

The 2,847-ton ship left New York City for Newport News, Va., last Thursday night with a cargo of scrap iron.

The first distress signals received here at 12:58 a.m. indicated the ship was taking water.

No passengers had been reported aboard.

EASTER MAY BE DAMPENED BY SOME SHOWERS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain threatened to dampen some areas today, but the outlook seemed bright for Easter parades.

Showers and thundershowers were expected today in the northern and central Rockies, the southern plains northeastward into the Great Lakes region and from the Gulf states northward into New York. Elsewhere, fair to partly cloudy weather was on tap.

Kansas, Missouri and Illinois took the brunt of Friday night's storms.

A small tornado struck near Louisville, Kan., about 60 miles south of Kansas City, destroying a number of farm buildings and a state highway shop building. It moved into Missouri and dropped nearly seven inches of rain at Pleasant Hill, Mo. Flash floods blocked several points along U.S. 71 between Belton and Peculiar, Mo.

No Injured Reported

No injuries were reported. Another twister was sighted near Columbia, Mo., in the center of the state, but apparently didn't touch ground.

Heavy hail, some the size of baseballs, hit near Paola, Kan., about 12 miles southwest of Louisville. Heavy hail and strong winds also swept across central and southern Illinois and northeastern Missouri, snapping some power lines. Damage was reported light.

Fair weather except for a few scattered showers was forecast for Sunday. A few showers are likely near the Northwest Coast, the northern Rockies and the Great Lakes region into upper New England. Scattered thundershowers are possible in the Middle Atlantic states and the mountains of the Carolinas.

Mild temperatures should prevail, except in the north-central tier of states. Butte, Mont., reported a chilly 24 above this morning.

Cadet Presented AUSA Ranger Prize

Charles Stevenson, civilian aide to the secretary of the Army for the State of Missouri and chairman of the Henry Leavenworth Chapter of the AUSA Awards Committee, recently presented the AUSA Ranger Award to Douglas Terrel, an ROTC cadet from the Leavenworth High School.

Terrel, 16-year-old son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Mark H. Terrel of Fort Leavenworth, and grandson of Mrs. J. E. Terrel, Gettysburg, was cited for outstanding military performance. He organized a ranger platoon within the cadet corps.

The awards was made at the fourth annual membership meeting of the Henry Leavenworth Chapter of the AUSA held at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

New Hampshire was the first of the 13 original states to have a government completely independent of Great Britain.

N.J. Civil War Centennial Gets Boost At Gettysburg

New Jersey's Civil War Centennial observance will be more complete because of Gettysburg, according to an article appearing in the Bergen, N. J., Evening Record.

Entitled "Lack of Funds Delays Research on Civil War," the article by Charles H. Harrison tells how Donald Flamm, Coster, N. J., acting chairman of the New Jersey State Civil War Centennial Commission, became a Civil War buff as a result of a visit to Gettysburg.

Flamm "has been a fan of Revolutionary War history since he began hearing about the Redcoats trudging up the Palisades from Closter Dock," Harrison wrote.

Attended Conference Here "But this enthusiastic pilot of New Jersey's course during the centennial celebration didn't feel the sting of the Civil War bug until some months after his appointment to the Centennial Commission by Governor Meyner. Last fall Flamm and others on the commission traveled to Gettysburg, Pa., and a 3-day Civil War Conference at Gettysburg College. It was here the bug found its mark.

"Flamm, who has traveled throughout the world, said he had one of the most dramatic and impressive experiences of his life in the room at Gettysburg where Abraham Lincoln spent the night before his famous address. Alone in the room, Flamm heard the record played in the background, which recreates Lincoln's arrival, his speech to the crowd on the square, the scribbling of changes in his speech for the cemetery and his prayers before retiring.

"If the appointment has served no other purpose," Flamm said, "it has been rewarding in persuading me to take that trip." Flamm said he hopes he may somehow use the recording during the centennial to encourage others to visit the room and the Gettysburg Battlefield.

Need Money

The article relates that Flamm is owner of several radio stations and "is a man of imagination and ideas," but "ideas cannot become action without money. The commission's modest budget recommended. He will teach approximately halftime and assist Mr. Gray for the remainder of this assignment. Applications for the position are being received by the superintendent.

AP Story Paves Way For Operation To Save Life

NEW YORK (AP) — A poor little Greek boy lay in a New York hospital today, knowing in his child's mind that his desperate plea for a chance to live has been answered.

When he arrived by plane with his mother Friday, 4-year-old Stelakis Parthenopoulos cried and sobbed through the immigration and customs checks.

A surgeon and an American newsman, speaking through an interpreter, soothed him.

With his ruddy face and crew-cut hair, the youngster looked a picture of health. But doctors say a congenital defect straining his heart progressively since birth threatens to snuff out his life.

It was to the newsman that the youngster sent a letter months ago that brought him to America for treatment.

"Do you think," the letter asked, "that the heart of a child has to stop because his father has no money to pay for an operation?"

The newsman, Associated Press writer John O. B. Wallace didn't think so. Nor did the surgeon, Dr. Aaron N. Gorelik, who will operate on the boy, nor the Parkchester General Hospital, nor other groups informed of the child's plight.

For Wallace, the appeal from half-way around the world had special meaning. He himself had been saved through a heart operation performed by Dr. Gorelik. The AP story he wrote about it was published throughout the world and reached the Athens tenement where the little boy lived.

THAT MIND OF YOURS
Your noblest gift from the Great Creator is that mind of yours. There is nothing else to adequately compare with it. Just the thought of it puts us on high ground. Every day of our lives we should pay homage to this mind of ours. It will carry us safely to our destined port. Never forget that it is your greatest ally in life and it will never desert you.

There is something that will constantly give to you silent power and goad you forward. It's that mental attitude of mind that makes all the difference as you put your fingers to the wheel, or the plough, and demonstrate the wisdom of the Heavenly Father Who is the elder Brother to us all.

It's our attitude of mind that sets us apart from the idler, the complainer, and those lacking the desire to keep rising higher in ambition and enterprise. We need self respect and we need to respect those who work happily, from day to day—always planning more useful things to do. What many people lack is the love of interests.

BECAUSE OF EASTER
Because of Easter men believe. They stand beside their dead and grieve. Yet through their tear-filled eyes they see The dawn of glorious life to be.

Because of Easter men are strong! Believing right shall follow wrong, They cling to truth and look ahead; And faith remains when joy is dead.

And as the Master burst the tomb And rose in glory from the gloom, So men believe that from the clay Shall splendor come to bloom some day.

Out of the pain and lust of life, The bloodshed and the hate of strife, Because of Easter, mortals cling Unto the faith that peace shall spring.

HAVE PRINTS OF SLAYER OF THREE WOMEN

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—Investigators worked today on their "biggest break so far" in the Starved Rock triple murder case—bloody fingerprints on the clothing of two of the bludgeoned society matrons.

Authorities believe the prints belong to the killer. If they can be read—and officials think they can—they will be compared with every set of prints on record.

State Police Supt. William Morris said five or six fingerprints and a thumb print were revealed under laboratory scrutiny of garments belonging to the Riverside, Ill., victims. "This is the biggest break so far," he said.

He theorized the prints might have been left in a struggle while the killer dragged the bodies into the shallow cave on March 14.

The battered bodies of Frances Murphy, 47, Lillian Oetting, 50, and Mildred Lindquist, 50, were discovered on March 16.

They disappeared only hours after checking into the lodge for a brief winter holiday. The women, wives of prominent Chicago executives, apparently were lured to their violent death while tramping through the scenic trails.

CASTRO'S MEN ARREST MANY TO BREAK BOLT

By HAROLD K. MILKS

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's agents rounded up hundreds of suspects today in a determined bid to keep a revolt sized revolt against his revolutionary regime from reaching dangerous proportions.

Intelligence officers sought out suspected foes of the Castro regime as the bearded Prime Minister personally led a strong battle-equipped force into the Sierra Maestra Mountains hunting Manuel Beaton and his elusive guerrilla band. Rain and fog hampered the military operation being carried out under a tight lid of secrecy.

Main target of Castro's agents appeared to be members of the Movement for Recovery of the Revolution (MRR), an anti-Communist organization said to be directed from abroad by former Castro officials.

Nab Castro Beaton
Among those reported seized were a number of former members of Castro's 26th of July movement.

Authorities reportedly intercepted an attack on a police post 15 miles south of Havana by a group of youths who had planned to seize arms so they could join Beaton's forces in eastern Cuba.

The pro-Castro newspaper La Calle said police headed off the band wounding one youth and capturing four.

An official news blackout blanketed the operation in the Sierra Maestra where Castro's own revolutionary movement that toppled dictator Fulgencio Batista was born.

An indication of where the search centered for Beaton and his band, estimated at 50 men, came from a group of student hikers who were turned back Thursday at La Plata, Castro's old command post in the heart of the Sierra Maestra.

Have Meager Clues To 4 Kidnappers

PARIS (AP)—Police had only a few meager clues today but said they are determined to catch 4-year-old Eric Peugeot's kidnappers. "Kidnaping must not become a profitable enterprise in France," declared on police official.

With little Eric safely back home, brigade investigators obtained interviews with his wealthy father, Roland Peugeot, who apparently would like to see the investigation dropped.

Peugeot, whose family owns a vast automobile and steel empire, had refused to discuss the case while negotiating with the kidnappers for the child's return. He paid them a large ransom and agreed not to seek their arrest.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:
The joint concert of the Gettysburg Symphony Orchestra and the Gettysburg College Choir last Tuesday was a happy collaboration.

It is somewhat unusual for two groups of this sort to appear in combined concert, each being able to achieve individual stature and at the same time unite in some numbers which present complete balance and unobtrusive cooperation of the separate choirs, vocal and instrumental.

It was perhaps the first time that Gettysburg has had a concert of the type on this scale. The audience of more than a thousand at the Student Union building responded in its appreciation with a lusty accolade for Prof. Parker B. Wagnild, director of the college singers, and Dr. William Sebastian Hart, conductor of the orchestra, who has brought his 90 musicians to a high degree of perfection during the comparatively brief period the orchestra has been together.

It was a particularly felicitous occasion because it marked the 25th anniversary of Wagnild's direction of the college choir. A large number of students and faculty were on hand to give the proper recognition to their faithful music director. The singers, as usual, performed with grace, balance and a precise unity that bespeaks the painstaking training which Wagnild has given them. The director learned his lessons well long ago with the St. Olaf College Choir, famed both in this country and in Continental circles.

A Trained Musician
If one were to close his eyes, it would seem that he were listening to Dr. Melius Christensen's St. Olaf group. And there could be no greater, or perhaps more cherished, compliment to the Gettysburg director than this. Prof. Wagnild is a thoroughly trained musician and with the years has gained a talented understanding that brings from his youthful singers an artistic response that a less experienced chorister could not achieve. Gettysburg College is fortunate in having a musician of his stature in charge of its music. He and his assistants have brought that department along a considerable distance.

Dr. Hart's orchestra again gave a commendable performance. The friendly informality that has become a part of the concerts detracts not one whit from the artistic accomplishments of the group. The orchestra, appropriately, seemed to defer to the silver anniversary occasion of the college choir leader and when the combined numbers were presented there was, consequently, a fine melding of musicianship.

"Uplifting Effect"
The Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's "The Messiah" was presented with all its transporting brilliance and triumphant devotion. There were moments when the orchestra seemed a bit overpowering, but the overall effect was characteristically uplifting.

The writer recalls words of a maestro friend who, when he collaborated with a singing group, would tell half of his musicians: "Take a rest." Any danger of overbalance faded.

To many in the audience the inspiring moment of the evening came in the orchestra's collaboration with the choir in the Steffo-Howe arrangement of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." The

Gettysburg Schools Report

NATIONAL DEFENSE EDUCATION ACT OF 1958
One of the most apparent realizations concerning the current and future needs of education is the essential fact that more effective federal support for education is imminent and inevitable.

A forward step in this direction took place September 2, 1958, when President Eisenhower signed into Public Law "The National Defense Education Act of 1958," which authorizes the expenditure of something over one billion dollars in federal aid.

In the swinging sweep of its ten titles, it touches every level of education, public and private, from the elementary school through the graduate school.

Its billion dollars, though authorized for a dozen separate programs, have been authorized for a single purpose — that every young person, from the day he first enters school, should have an opportunity to develop his gifts to the fullest.

This is the emphasis that gives the act its name for it recognizes that, in a free society, the individual is the first line of defense.

In this pursuit of excellence for the individual, the act does not concern itself with how much bigger our schools should be, or how they should be built — important though these matters are — but rather with the findings and encouraging of talent, with the improving of the ways and means of teaching, and with the advancing of knowledge itself.

To indicate the broadness and scope of the act, it should be noted that the act has ten titles as follows: Title I - General Provisions; Title II - Loans to Students; Title III - Financial Aid for Strengthening Instruction; Title IV - Fellowships; Title V - Guidance, Counseling, Testing; Title VI - Language Development; Title VII - Research in uses of TV, Radio, Movies, etc.; Title VIII - Area Vocational Education; Title IX - Science Information Service, and Title X - Improving Statistical Services.

The most important provision of this act for local school districts is Title III, which provides at this time for the purchase of instructional materials and supplies to be used in the teaching of science, mathematics and modern foreign languages.

Of course, the disposition of federal funds and the implementing of the act to the local school district is delegated to the various state departments of Public Instruction.

The procedure for securing materials is as follows: a local school district submits a list of items related to the instruction of science, mathematics and modern foreign languages to the State Department of Public Instruction for approval. After approval is granted, the school district purchases the items and after verification of purchases, the state Department of Public Instruction authorizes federal funds to be used to reimburse the local school district at the rate of 50 cents on every dollar spent.

The Gettysburg High School is requesting NDEA approval this year on such items as a Braun electrocroscope, a force table, a spectral tube, iodine, a ripple

ELECTION FOLLIES
Are Presidential Elections Too Long?
Englishman Thinks Length Creates Follies

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D. AMERICAN PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGNS are too long. So says Professor Dennis W. Brogan, now in America from England's famed Cambridge University.

The professor is a political scientist of more than passing repute. As an avid student and constant commentator on American affairs, his opinion should be worth something.

Actually, there is not much that is original in his idea. A dozen or more Englishmen, including Lord Bryce, the eminent authority of some 50 years ago, have expressed the same thought.

Likewise, innumerable Americans have come to the same conclusion, with the additional opinion that American Presidential nominations and elections are also too expensive.

DR. BROGAN did offer a strange argument for shorter elections. He thinks it unfortunate that long elections lead candidates to stray from the issues and to commit "follies."

Old Judge C. C. Doty, of Schleicher County, never went to Cambridge, but he had the same idea when commenting on the Honorable Thomas L. Blanton, an exceptionally noisy West Texas congressman of that era.

"Tom is going to be a good man until he cuts his throat with his own tongue."

And Mr. Blanton ultimately did exactly that.

But this is no argument for shorter elections. The idea merely serves the welfare of the candidate rather than that of the public. If a candidate is given to the commission of "follies," let us make sure that quality is revealed before he is elected.

If it takes a long election season in which to do it, the length of time given to the Presidential selection is fully justified.

IT IS IN RECOGNITION of Dr. Brogan's theory of campaign "follies" that Messrs. Nixon, Johnson and Stevenson are conspicuously doing nothing to further their aspirations this early in the game.

It would be a folly on the part of any one of the three to waste campaign thunder and money against an opponent who stands a good chance of being eliminated tank, a cathode ray tube, an analytical balance, a calculator, an aquarium, a microscope, a paragon autograph drafting machine, and an overhead projector.

With the costs of education continually rising year after year due to the increased population and our economy, it seems urgent that federal programs, such as outlined in this article, be supported and encouraged.

President Will Throw Out First Ball To Open Junior Loop Monday, Washington

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
For the first time in 40 years the Chicago White Sox are the team to beat as the American League inaugurates its 1960 season Monday with the traditional opener at Washington.

Some 28,000 are expected to be on hand as President Eisenhower interrupts his vacation to throw out the first ball for the Senators-Boston Red Sox battle. Of equal interest is the appearance of Ted Williams in the Red Sox line-up. The 41-year-old slugger, either because of injury, illness, service hitches or marital problems, has missed the season opener in five of the last seven years.

Camilo Pascual, Washington's best pitcher and considered by some the No. 1 pitcher in the league, is slated to oppose Tom Sturdivant. Pascual (17-10) turned in half of his six lifetime victories over the Red Sox last year. Sturdivant (2-8) has been Boston's hottest pitcher in spring exhibitions.

All Play Tuesday

Approximately 122,000 are expected to attend the four games Tuesday as the entire league springs into action. Forty thousand probably will be at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium to see young Gary Bell (16-11) oppose Detroit's Jim Bunning (17-18). Around 30,000 will come out to see the White Sox open defense of their American League title against Kansas City. Early Wynn (22-10), the league's only 20-game winner last year, will pit his 40-year-old arm against the A's Bud Daley (16-13) at Chicago.

Cool weather is expected to hold the Boston attendance to around 22,000 for the Red Sox game with the New York Yankees. Jerry Casale (13-8) is the probably Boston starter. Jim Coates (6-1), an other right-hander, may get the call from Casey Stengel. Another 30,000 may see Washington help the Orioles ring in the new season at Baltimore. Milt Pappas (15-9), the 21-year-old Oriole star, figures to get the starting nod against Pedro Ramos (13-9).

OLD PROS LEAD GOLF TOURNEY

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — There was an old familiar look to the standings as the $17,500 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament moved in today's third round.

Sam Snead, a frisky 47-year-old who has won this tournament six times since he took its first leading in 1938, shared the 36-hole lead with Dow Finsterwald at 134.

Snead, from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., had a 66, and Finsterwald, from Tequesta, Fla., a 67 Friday. They were eight under par for two rounds over the 5,651-yard Starmount Forest Country Club course.

One stroke back was Bob Goal by playing from Crystal River, Fla., who shot a 66.

It took a score of 149 or better to survive the 36-hole cut and 62 pros made the grade for the last two days of scrambling for the top money of $2,400 and 29 other prizes.

In fourth place at 137 was Len Woodward of Sydney, Australia. Next came first-round leader Thorne Wood of Asheboro, N.C., and Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, tied at 138.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jay Dolan of Rollins College is showing his heels to the field today, boasting a four-stroke edge as the University of Miami Intercollegiate Golf Tournament goes into its final round.

His 4-under-par 69 Friday gave him a 209 total for the first 54 holes.

Dick Harrell of Florida Southern is second with 213. Deane Beman of Maryland, the British Amateur title holder, is third with 216.

The team competition lead is held by the University of Florida with an 877 total. Next is Rollins with 887, followed by Lamar Tech of Beaumont, Tex., 896.

SHERRY WILL HURL SUNDAY

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Larry Sherry experiment is scheduled to be resumed Sunday.

The crack relief pitcher for the Los Angeles Dodgers gets his chance to start his second game of the new season against the St. Louis Cardinals in Memorial Coliseum.

Sherry, insistent on being a starting pitcher, got his first chance of 1960 against the Chicago Cubs Wednesday night. He was "touched" for nine hits in nine innings and wrecked, 4-0, by the home run blasts of Ernie Banks and Frank Thomas.

Manager Walt Alton of the Dodgers obviously is in a quandary over Sherry. He would prefer him for bullpen duty and has the greatest confidence in him in that capacity.

But Alton is going along, at least for the moment, in giving Sherry a shot at a starting role. Sherry was the hurling hero in the Dodgers' World Series victory over the Chicago White Sox when he won two and saved two games.

Hints At Changes

"I'm mad," blurted the usually mild-mannered Devine. "I just hope the club is as mad as I am."

Devine then warned his athletes

"there could be player changes."

St. Louis lost 14 of its first 17

in 1958 and 13 of its first 17 last season. Devine said he didn't think it possible the club could go through another horrible start.

"Just by showing up," he said,

"I thought we'd be better."

Devine made it clear he doesn't

blame Manager Solly Hemus —

"I couldn't be more emphatic

about that."

But he made it just as clear he doesn't intend to sit back and let

the early slump run its course.

kok, rated the challenger ahead,

148-137. Fleischer also voted for Pone, 146-140.

30,000 At Fight

More than 30,000 Thai fight fans, playing flutes and banging gongs, crowded around the ring for the bout which had been delayed two weeks to give the Argentine more time to get acclimated to Bangkok's steamy climate. Among the spectators, sitting in a gold and blue box, were the King and Queen of Thailand.

The flyweight championship belt was placed in a golden Buddha bowl on a table at ringside

as the fight began.

Perez kept up a steady stream of short punches and kept close to his taller and younger opponent most of the way. Pone's long reach was his best weapon. He punished his foe with heavy smashes to the head during the late rounds.

Slayer Gets

Freedom As

Easter Gift

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A father imprisoned for slaying a man, will worship with his family on Easter Sunday and return to his job and a fresh start on Monday.

"I have rarely felt more sorry for a defendant," said Judge

David L. Ullman in granting Raymond Tomczak's petition for parole.

"Rarely have I felt that a man had more provocation for what he did," explained Judge Ullman, a Jew. "His conduct in prison has been exemplary. He is a devout

Catholic and Sunday is Easter.

His family has no resources. I am releasing him as of now."

Last summer Tomczak, 32 and the father of six, chased Michael Aquilla, 30, from his home and stabbed him in the back with a bayonet. He was convicted Feb.

5 of second-degree murder.

He said at his trial that Aquilla had been visiting his wife Judge

Ullman observed that Aquilla had been blackmailing Mrs. Tomczak.

Her husband's sentence was 1½ to 23 months.

Tomczak has been good to his family, often working double shifts to support them properly, the judge said, and he has been promised his old job as a boatwright if he returns by May 1.

NABBED IN THEFT RING

YORK, Pa. (AP)—State police say a 23-year-old man being held in York County jail was an outlet for a stolen car ring operating along the East Coast.

Richard N. Kelly, a used car dealer of nearby Red Lion, was arrested Friday and charged with receiving three stolen autos. Police said Kelly bought the cars from the ring.

BOSS OF CARDS REAL ANGRY AT THREE DEFEATS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — General

Manager Bing Devine is angry and impatient with the slow-starting St. Louis Cardinals and has issued a "win or else" ultimatum to his players.

Devine's bite could be as bad as his bark.

The 43-year-old front office boss flew to Los Angeles after the Red

Birds dropped their first two at San Francisco, getting only three hits each game.

Then he suffered through a 3-2 setback to the Dodgers Thursday night. The Cards squandered nine hits with poor base running and the winning run scored on a wild pitch in the last of the ninth.

Hints At Changes

"I'm mad," blurted the usually

mild-mannered Devine. "I just

hope the club is as mad as I am."

Devine then warned his athletes

"there could be player changes."

St. Louis lost 14 of its first 17

in 1958 and 13 of its first 17 last

season. Devine said he didn't think

it possible the club could go

through another horrible start.

"Just by showing up," he said,

"I thought we'd be better."

Devine made it clear he doesn't

blame Manager Solly Hemus —

"I couldn't be more emphatic

about that."

But he made it just as clear he

doesn't intend to sit back and let

the early slump run its course.

Championship

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) —

Pone Kingphet of Thailand, his left eye battered shut, won the world flyweight boxing championship today on a split decision from Pascual Perez of Argentina

after 15 bloody rounds.

Perez, who had held the title

since 1954, weighed 112, Pone

110½.

It was the vote of Nat Fleischer of New York, world boxing authority that crowned the Thai fighter. Referee Lorenzo Torrealba voted for Perez, 145 to 143.

Torrealba is from Argentina.

Judge Wong Hiranleka of Bangkok, rated the challenger ahead,

148-137. Fleischer also voted for Pone, 146-140.

Homes Of Today ... The Carrollton

By VIRGINIA JOHNSON Home Economist and Interior Decorator

"Here laughter dwells, and happiness
Is like the garden, fresh and sweet;
Here faith is warm as a caress,
And living in a thing complete."
These lines by Margaret Sangster seem to have been written specially for the "Carrollton." It offers a wealth of plan features which give the utmost in pleasing living with the least expenditure of time and energy.

The sheltered front porch and entrance are a projection of the charm you find within. It impresses you as simple, unstudied elegance, yet there's careful attention to details—a long low planter for beauty all summer—a wainscoting effect of snowy white siding with brick masonry below—contrast of color and texture in a wrought iron supporting post.

An unusually large entrance hall will allow the space you've always longed for as visitors are greeted and welcomed into your home and as you say those last lingering good-byes. A coat closet just inside will make quick work of hanging up coats for family or friends.

Fireplace Groupings
The living room has great possibilities for comfortable furniture arrangements. Groupings around the fireplace and in the left corner could have the outside view for their center of interest. The floor to ceiling window lets the morning sun flood the room, making even the far corners bright.

The dining room, separated from the living room by folding doors, is in the back where diners will be distributed by unexpected callers. The kitchen, with its carefully placed fixtures and cabinets, is a housewife's dream. It is efficient, and it is a pleasant place to work. This kitchen is also large enough to allow ample space for a dining nook, where informal family dining may be enjoyed.

The three well located bedrooms are served by two bathrooms. Bedroom closets, a hall linen and storage area, and carport storage are a generous solution to any storage problem.

Working Blueprints
All the essentials of complete, comfortable living are found inside the "Carrollton." Complete working blueprints, with specifications and material list, are available for the "Carrollton," pictured above with brick masonry exterior walls. Plans may also be secured with the outside walls finished in brick veneer or entirely in siding. Reversed plans (carport on the left) are available, and the design with a similar floor plan, with family room but without basement, may be secured. It thus is possible to build this home to meet your exact requirements, and to exactly fit your building site.

Plans for this home, designed for construction in this area, provide for standardization of dimensions, materials, details, and for standard construction practices, so that its builder is assured moderate construction costs.

For complete details and a complete selection of other designs, contact your local lumber or building materials dealer, your real estate dealer, your bank, savings and loan association, or write to the firm that created this design—Standard Homes Company, 2524 "L" Street, N. W., Washington 7, D. C.
